A Patient’s View
My Personal Approach

30 years working on science and medical topics as journalist

11/2009: Prostata Cancer (Gleason Score 8)

Book and film about cancer and my personal strategies to cope with the diagnosis: „Radiesen von oben – über Leben mit Krebs“
My Needs as Patient

Orientation and support for decisions on primary treatment to destroy the cancer supportive treatment to reduce side effects treatment to reduce risks of relapse (mind and body)

treatment in case of relapse

Emotional support, confidence and continuity
The Approach of Conventional Medicine to My Problems

urologists: radical surgery
   No problem! - conventional – minimal invasive – Da Vinci oncologists: hormone therapy

   No problem! We manage it!

My Questions to be Answered

How to destroy the tumor?
- operation
- radiation
- hormones
- watchful waiting

How to manage Living?
- speechlessness
- anxiety
- anxiety of the people around
- continue working?

How to accept the challenge?
- effects of conventional treatment
- side effects of conventional treatment
- confidence and hope
- options in case of relapse

How to strengthen body and mind?
- remedies
- psychotherapy
- immune therapies
- holistic concepts
What I learned

emotions and fear are more important than described – a taboo prognosis should not destroy hope evidence gives orientation, decisions are individual

olibanum against inflammation

oncologic psychotherapy
My Way

frequent coaching by a holistic doctor

HDR and brachytherapy

oncological psychotherapy
My Future Options

therapy with dendritic cells

hyperthermia

surgery or second radiation
My Experience During 2 Years

no continuity in personal support no rational and holistic support for decisions no help to cope with fear and anxiety – 50% suffer from manifest anxiety or depression

no coaching after primary treatment
My Conclusions

cancer-patients may need personalized medicine cancer patients definitely need personal medicine modern clinics organize tumor-boards for physicians to talk about the patient’s cells good medicine should organize structures for physicians to talk with the patients cancer patients should have the right to get continuous services for years – holistic CAM physicians

My Next Steps

cancer.navigator
web-service: dossiers according to personal needs network of therapists for consultations via skype, phone or personally

Documentary film and book about „Miracle of healing“
